MORE HELP for the county, free of charge, has arrived this week in the form of 10 Cuban trusty's that the Hancock County Jail is housing for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service in New Orleans, La., according to County Jail Warden Jim Odom. Several have been assigned to work at the county maintenance barn including diesel mechanic Rafael Fernandez Lopez, left; who repairs a tractor engine under supervision of Barn Foreman Donald Famularo. Also assigned to the barn are two body mechanics, Ramon Collazo Oviedo and Carlos Orama Martines. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Jail acquires more federal detainees, free labor for farm

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Jail is now housing an additional 10 Cuban detainees who can provide free labor to the county.

According to Jail Warden Jim Odom, the 10 detainees are people with trades including diesel mechanic, electrician, plumber and welder.

Odom said eight of the 10 have been assigned to the county farm and the county maintenance barn at Kiln. The other two have not been assigned as yet for medical reasons.

Hancock County started housing federal prisoners for the U.S. Department of Immigration and Naturalization (INS) last year with a group of Cuban detainees that eventually grew from 11 to 18 men.

The county is paid $45 per day for housing an INS detainee or prisoner, which has made the jail section of the sheriff's department self-sufficient, Odom explained.

The original group of Cubans, like the present group, had trusty status, which means that they were minimum security inmates who could work outside the secure area of the jail as long as they were properly supervised.

Most of the federal detainees with trust status have worked at the county farm, which is located behind the barn and was started mostly to reduce the cost of feeding jail inmates by reducing the amount of food that would have to be purchased.

The first group of Cubans was released, but the federal detainees who replaced them were "lock-down" inmates, Odom said. "Lock-down" inmates are those who must remain in the secured area of the jail and can not be used to work outside the jail.

Odom said this particular group of detainees came to Hancock County from Oakdale, a federal facility in Louisiana, and was probably not released with the first group because "they didn't have any family over here."

They will be in Hancock County for at least six months.

He said those with criminal charges against them are being held for minor crimes, such as gambling.

Odom added that the addition of the Cubans to the remainder of the lock-down group brought to Hancock County last month brings the total of federal detainees to 26. He said the county hopes to acquire five more with trusty status.

Most of the federal detainees with approved by the U.S. Department of Justice last year and received approval from the U.S. Attorney General's Office last week, Gex said.

However, the election in which Yarborough and Smolensky were re-elected to their post about 18 months ago was conducted under the old ward lines, Gex added.

He has been advised by a state attorney general that the new ward lines should be used for the special election, particularly since the U.S. Attorney General's office has approved them, but that he would like to obtain clearance from the federal office first if there is enough time before the election.

Two arrested, juvenile detained

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two Pearlington men have been arrested in connection with a January break-in at Roy Baxter's Marina in Pearlington.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay, Paul Richard Day, 18, of P.O. Box 87, White's Road; and Gregory Jackson, 23, general delivery, Pearlington, were arrested Wednesday and charged with grand larceny.

Day has been released on $2,500 bond and Jackson was still jailed Wednesday afternoon in lieu of $2,500 bond, the investigator said.

A 17-year-old juvenile was detained and turned over to Hancock County Youth Court authorities.

Seay stated that none of the property taken during the break-in has as yet been recovered, and that authorities are seeking a fourth person in connection with the incident.

The property, which included boat motors, fuel tanks, fishing poles, tackle boxes and other fishing gear, was removed after a storm fence around the marina was cut.

Seay said some of the property had been taken to Louisiana and that authorities feel the remainder is still in Mississippi.

Assisting Seay in the arrests were Constable Gary Bennett and Auxiliary Deputy Greg Lichtenstein. The investigation is continuing.

Q. What is the difference between the State Guard and the National Guard?
A. The National Guard is a dual-purpose, federally controlled military organization responsible for the state's security and tranquility but capable of being mobilized for federal service. If the National Guard is mobilized for federal service, the State Guard has responsibility for providing for the state's needs, in cases of emergency, natural disasters and other breaches of the state's security or tranquility.

Have you ever noticed how healthy some of the motorists are who use the parking areas reserved for the handicapped?

The new post office is a primary example of what I am talking about. The parking area has two designated handicapped parking spaces, yet very healthy motorists take advantage of the spaces.

I guess it could be because they like to park very close to the doorway.

Shopping centers try to make it convenient for handicapped persons by providing special parking spaces, yet the handicapped have a hard time finding a place to park because the spaces are occupied by the vehicles of persons not handicapped.

It is hoped that all motorists will honor the spaces provided for the handicapped and let them remain open so they are there when needed.

A problem we have noted numerous times is the failure of motorists to observe road blocks.

From time to time, the county or one of the cities have to close a section of a road or street because of some hazard such as a washout.

Authorities will place a road block and some motorists pay no mind whatsoever to the area being blocked.

True, usually there is an area left open so residents of the immediate area can have access to their homes.

The road blocks mean for all other traffic to seek other ways to travel and the areas blocked off are not for sightseers.

We know of several cases where road signs have been removed illegally, have been shot at and even gone swimming, and these things can cause very serious injuries to motorists.

Authorities place road blocks to warn motorists of hazards and they should not be removed by unauthorized persons.

On Friday from 5 to 8 p.m., the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Junior Auxiliary will have a benefit Meat Ball and Spaghetti dinner.

The event will take place at the Legion Home on Green Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis.

Proceeds from the dinner will go toward the Junior Auxiliary's projects.

Dinners will be for a donation of $3 each and take-outs will be available.

The meat balls and spaghetti are being prepared by Famous Big John and his crew.

We hope to see you at the dinner.

On Saturday night, starting at 6:30 p.m., there will be a free Cajun Nite Concert at the Bay St. Louis City Hall Park.

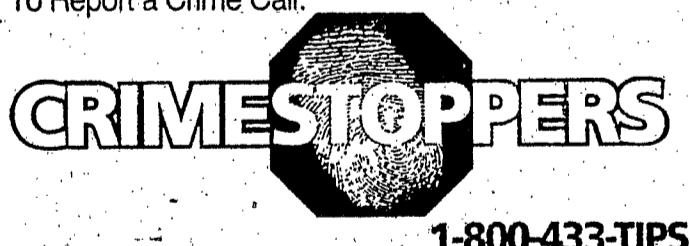

The event is presented through Bay Tech Associates in conjunction with McMahon Coastline Realty.

The concert is sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Downtown Merchants Association, and food and drinks will be available.

We remember the group's concert last year. It was a big hit.

We are hoping there will be a large attendance for the big event.

Governor's Weekly Report

BY GOV. RAY MABUS

All too often we're bombarded by news about what is not working in our state. But this week, I'd like to tell you about some good news on the horizon for Mississippians.

It can be summed up in one word—jobs.

I announced recently that Weyerhaeuser Co., a giant in the timber and wood products industry, has indicated that Mississippi is the likely site for a $400 million pulp mill.

The mill would provide up to 3,000 construction jobs at its peak construction period, more than 200 permanent plant jobs and about 400 other jobs in related areas such as logging and transportation.

Wood use would increase ten-fold at Weyerhaeuser's Columbus site, where the company currently operates a paper mill.

The Weyerhaeuser board of directors will make a final decision this month on whether to build the plant here, but company President George Weyerhaeuser has told me he is "very optimistic" about the outcome for Mississippi.

This project, I believe, is representative of the potential for economic development in this state.

My office, in cooperation with Columbus-area legislators and city and county officials, worked in unison to convince Weyerhaeuser to make that commitment in Mississippi.

We worked to see that Weyerhaeuser secured available tax incentives necessary to make Mississippi an attractive state in which to locate the new plant.

Local cooperation and tax incentives are basic in today's intense competition for quality business and industry.

But, there is so much more we can do.

The Mississippi Legislature has recognized this by acting on a bill to consolidate our economic development efforts under one agency—the Department of Economic Development. The bill has passed the Senate and is in the state House of Representatives.

The measure also gives the governor authority to appoint the state's economic development director. I am committed to finding the best available director and as long as I'm governor, we'll have an economic development department that performs.

Earlier this year, I named P.D. Fyke as my special assistant for economic development. He has a long time track record in attracting new businesses and will be a strong asset in our effort to encourage business locations and expansions in Mississippi.

It is also my goal to establish a first-ever comprehensive economic development plan for our state. Such a plan will do away with our piecemeal approach to economic development and give us a decisive plan of action.

Another very important part of my administration's economic development initiatives is education and improved teacher pay.

Business and industry simply will not come to Mississippi if they don't think we can supply them with a steady stream of skilled, well educated employees. That is why the teacher pay bill I am seeking in the legislature is so important.

Finally, as in the case of Weyerhaeuser, I will always strive to use the governor's office to promote our state as "the place to be" for businesses that want to grow and prosper.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

By BILL MINOR

JACKSON—Barring some unexpected compromise, Gov. Ray Mabus' determined effort to replace Ed Cole as chairman of the state Democratic Party will go down to the wire when the party's 100-member executive committee meets Saturday.

Another was to let Cole run for re-election unopposed, with the understanding that he would later announce he was resigning as chairman in August.

Cole said he felt if Mabus had approached him with some compromise in January "before I found out by the grapevine he wanted to get rid of me, there may have been room for compromise. But given the emphasis he has put on it, I'm not going to back off."

Sources close to Mabus say that the governor is exasperated with Cole whom he believes was dissuaded by a handful of advisers after indicating he would accept one of the proposed compromises.

Privately Mabus is saying that the state Democratic Party can't get along without the governor's backing, and that if he should lose in the effort to unseat Cole, he is not going to help the party.

"It's an unequal match, I would be foolish to say that it wasn't," declared Cole. "I don't have the staff that he has, or the perks and other things that he has to offer."

"All I have is the friendship, commitment and the history of working with these folks" (on the state executive committee)."

Forty-two members of the incoming executive committee are either holdovers from the 1984-85 committee or served on the committee with Cole the previous four years. The committee is 56 percent black.

By his own count, Cole said, "I've got enough votes to be elected, unless the governor can knock some of them out."

That's exactly what Mabus has set out to do. Last week, he began calling in individual members of the committee for a chat at his office, or at the governor's mansion.

Three nights this week he's having groups of 20 executive committee members to join him in a get-together at the mansion to ostensibly talk about the future of the Democratic Party.

But some speculated that the real purpose of the get-togethers was to introduce Billie Thompson, a white Tupelo businesswoman, as his choice to replace Cole. Thompson is a newcomer to the state committee.

As another gesture to curry favor with the committee, Mabus has invited all 100 committee members to have breakfast at the mansion Saturday morning before their 10 a.m. meeting.

Apparently several compromises were tossed out to Cole by Mabus

Meanwhile, there was some speculation that should Mabus win his battle to keep Cole from being re-elected, he may not be able to get the state executive committee to go along with Billie Thompson as the new party chairman because she is too much of an outsider.

Several Democratic activists at the state Democratic Convention Mar. 26, voiced the opinion that anyone inexperienced as Thompson in the delicate racial structure of the party would not be acceptable to lead the party.

REPORT TO MISSISSIPPIANS

PRESIDENT'S BUDGET SIGNALS HOPE FOR DEFICIT REDUCTION

Efforts to bring the nation's budget deficit under control have brought some progress in recent years, though we still have a long way to go in restoring fiscal stability to our government's finances. The enactment in 1985 of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Deficit Reduction Act was an important first step in solving the problem. Last year's budget negotiations between Congress and the Administration which resulted in a two-year deficit reduction agreement demonstrated the intent of the nation's leaders to get the deficit under control.

And now, with the recent submission of the President's budget for next year and the beginning of another budget cycle, I am hopeful that we will continue the process of reducing the deficit.

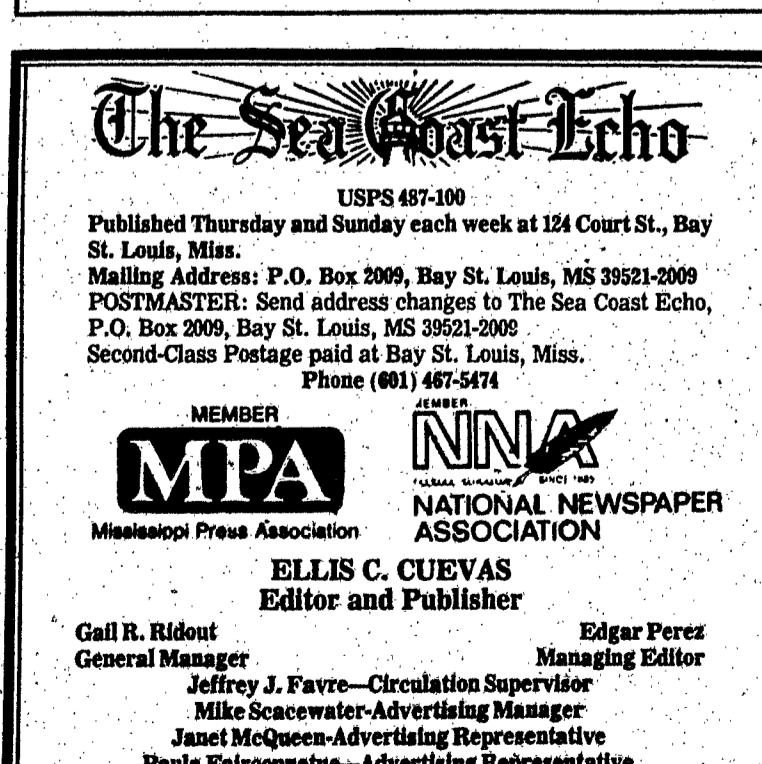

The President's budget proposals for fiscal year 1989 total over $1 trillion, the largest budget in the history of our nation. By way of comparison, the entire federal budget just 20 years ago was $157 billion, approximately the same amount that will be spent this year on interest on the national debt.

While the President's budget is the largest ever, it is in compliance with the spending caps agreed upon during the four weeks of negotiation between Congressional leaders and the Administration last fall. It does strive to bring our spending closer in line with our resources.

We all know the problem cannot be solved quickly. We must strive for steady progress in a balanced approach that will not wreck the economy. However, I am concerned that the president's spending plan places unfair emphasis on reductions in programs that are of vital importance to Mississippi and other mostly rural states by calling for the elimination or reduction of every rural and economic development program and many agricultural programs.

Certainly, funding restraints are necessary if we are to restore our country to fiscal stability. However, important economic development and agricultural programs must not be destroyed in the process. These vital programs must remain a priority for funding. Some adjustments must be made as we go through the process of adopting a federal budget for next year.

The Congress has a big job ahead in developing a budget that will stay within the boundaries of the agreement to reduce the federal deficit, yet will be fair and equitable. As chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, I pledge my full support to that effort.

Functional literacy test scheduled

BY DENA BISNETTE

Functional literacy examinations will be given to all 11th grade students in public schools next week.

According to Gloria Dean of Bay Senior High School, notices about the test are being sent home this week with all 11th grade students. The exam will be administered on Tuesday.

The functional literacy exam is part of Mississippi's statewide Basic Skills Assessment Program.

Dean said 1988 is the first year that the test is a requirement for a standard high school diploma. The test was tried last year and includes readings, mathematics and written communications.

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District, on a coastwide basis, scored only behind Long Beach, where 100 percent of students scored, Dean said.

Bay-Waveland had only a 13 percent failure rate. She said 93.8 percent of the students passed the reading test, 78.8 percent passed the math test and 97.3 percent passed the written communications test.

Dean said the test includes such practical items as a page from a checkbook and measuring proportions in a recipe in the math section, and a standard application and a business letter in the written communications section.

"It's all applied to practical skills," she explained.

The score reports for reading and math will be distributed in May. The direct writing section of the written communication part of the test will be scored by a group of Mississippi teachers in June and complete score reports will be produced.

The State Board of Education has set a requirement of a composite score of 699 for the three tests, which is an average of 70 percent correct on each test.

Students may score as low as 60 percent on one test and make up for that low score by scoring 70 percent or better on the other tests.

Any student who scores less than 60 percent on any one test will fail regardless of his composite score.

Students will be given three chances to make a passing score. Retesting is expected to be scheduled in August and December.

Dean said review classes have been offered this week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings for any students who wish to attend.

More information about the test can be obtained by calling Bay Senior High School at 467-6622.

Stolen signs prove problem for county after roads are damaged by weather

BY DENA BISNETTE

Heavy rains this weekend resulted in the temporary closing of three roads in Hancock County, but the damage done by the weather did not turn out to be the only problem.

According to Hancock County Board of Supervisors President and Beat Two Supervisor Ronald Cuevas, somebody apparently did not believe the roads had been closed and were dangerous.

He discussed the matter at Monday's board meeting, using Longfellow Drive as an example.

On Longfellow Drive at Arnold Street, water washed out one of the culverts under the road, leaving "nothing but the pavement itself," Cuevas said.

He said he had gotten under the road with a flashlight and found nothing supporting the pavement "for about eight to 10 feet" Saturday after a sheriff's deputy called him about the washout.

A section of road about 15 feet long was closed off, leaving the people coming off Highway 603 a detour to the right on Arnold Street to get to US-90, and three small roads off US-90 open.

Cuevas said barricades had been placed across the entire width of the road on the US-90 side of the damage, and in the center of the road on the Highway 603 side of the damage.

The two sides of the longer barricade were held down with pipes driven into the ground.

When Hancock County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson went to check the site on Sunday morning, half the longer barricade was gone and vehicles were using one side of the road. The other barricade had been moved.

The barricades were replaced but had again been moved when Cuevas checked on the problem prior to attending the Monday morning board meeting.

"Usually they carry them off. There's just something about those yellow lights," the board president commented.

The barricades, which Johnson said cost anywhere from $50 to $150 depending on the type, are sometimes found in wooded areas or in ditches. They have often been run over by vehicles by the time they are found.

Other types of markers have also been destroyed, damaged or removed.

ed. Johnson said "Road Closed" signs must be a particularly popular item because almost all of them have disappeared.

Even items like the orange-and-white plastic barrels used to mark wash-outs are not safe, Cuevas said. One was set up marking a wash-out on Whipple Road in Pearlington and was apparently deliberately run over until it was "nothing but scrap plastic."

Destruction of public property is a criminal violation, Board Attorney Gerald Gex explained. The punishment for such a crime includes the cost of replacement of the damaged or destroyed property and a fine of not more than $500 or not more than six months in jail.

According to Johnson, repairs are being made this week at Longfellow, where an old metal culvert washed out and a new concrete culvert is being installed.

In addition to Whipple Road, two other roads in Pearlington, White's Avenue and River Road, flooded and had to be closed off temporarily.

There was also a major washout at Heron Bay Road in Ansley, Johnson said.

The maintenance superintendent said the repairs are expected to be completed this week.

The board meets again April 15 at 9 a.m. in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Garden Park names Employee of The Year

Mrs. Maddox and her husband, Steve, reside in Orange Grove.

DELAIRIE MADDOX

Delarie Maddox, coordinator of marketing/public relations, has been named Employee of the Year at AMI Garden Park Community Hospital. She was presented with a plaque and gift certificate by Bill Carbrey, chief operating officer, at Garden Park.

Mrs. Maddox, a Bay St. Louis native, has been with Garden Park since February, 1986. She was graduated from Our Lady Academy in 1980 and attended the University of Southern Mississippi where she received a bachelor of science degree in advertising/marketing in 1984.

"Dependable, knowledgeable, energetic and professional are but a few adjectives which describe Mrs. Maddox," Carbrey said.

"She goes far beyond the scope of her job duties, and through hard work, she has brought organization, community awareness and employee recognition to Garden Park," Carbrey continued.

"Garden Park Community Hospital is proud to have Mrs. Maddox as Employee of the Year," he stated.

The barricades, which Johnson said cost anywhere from $50 to $150 depending on the type, are sometimes found in wooded areas or in ditches. They have often been run over by vehicles by the time they are found.

Other types of markers have also been destroyed, damaged or removed.

ETV Brief

FUNDAMENTALISM

Mississippi ETV will explore the relationship between Christian fundamentalism and the right wing of American politics in a 90-minute special, "Thy Kingdom Come... Thy Will Be Done," at 9:30 p.m., Thursday, April 7. A follow up will air at 11 p.m.

The program consists of two films, "Thy Kingdom Come" and "Thy Will Be Done," which look at how the fundamentalist movement has increased vastly in scope and size.

The first film explores the growth of television evangelism into a multimillion dollar industry including Heritage U.S.A., a toy store that sells biblical action figures and rewritten fairy tales.

"Thy Will Be Done," the second film, takes a look at the beliefs and practices of a particular fundamentalist church—the First Baptist Church of Dallas—the largest Protestant church with 26,000 members.

In the follow-up program, the Rev. W.A. Criswell of Dallas' First Baptist Church confronts the documentary's producer, Anthony Thomas, about his conclusions on religious fundamentalism examined in the two films.

News from the Capitol City

By Ellen Ann Ventress

The Mississippi Legislature concentrated on money last week, both making it and appropriating it. Last Thursday was the deadline for initial floor votes on money bills, and legislators cranked out appropriations bills, including boosts in their paychecks in the bargain.

Alcorn is the only state university without a state-provided stadium. The $7 million measure passed 50-2, with one opponent calling it responsible to use taxpayers' money for a football stadium when the state budget was being strained to improve the academics at state universities.

The Senate also passed two measures on Thursday that could have significant effects on the state treasury and the pocketbooks of Mississippians. Without opposition, senators voted to wipe out exemptions to the state sales tax law, which could generate millions of dollars.

State law allows home utility bills, prescription drug sales, coffin sales, newspaper sales, Girl Scout cookies sales and sales to non-profit hospitals and numerous charity organizations to be exempt from sales tax.

The Senate also voted to apply the state sales tax to mail order purchases, which could generate $2.4 million, according to Senate Finance Committee Chairman Bob Montgomery.

Montgomery said the votes would make a statement that the Senate wants a study of the sales tax code before the 1989 legislative session.

Both measures still would require House approval to go into effect.

The House voted 67-52 on a Senate-passed bill to raise the out-of-session expense allowance for legislators from $500 to $800 monthly. House

County school board plans visit to new classroom building

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Architect William Thompkins, school officials and members of the Hancock County School Board Thursday will tour the nearly completed eight classroom at Gulfview Elementary School.

Thursday's inspection visit to the site is in anticipation of occupation of the building within the next couple of weeks.

Thompkins told the board Monday at its regular meeting, the building could be ready for occupancy as early as next week.

The classroom building is the first phase of construction in a $6.8 million building program underway in the county to increase and upgrade school facilities.

Also during the meeting the board opened a bids for a two-room classroom addition to be constructed at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlington.

Four bids for the project ranging from $141,976 to $158,300 were submitted for the project. The bids were taken under advisement by the board and turned over to Thompkins for review.

Thompkins also told the board in the next four to six weeks advertisement for bidders should begin for site preparation work on the land where the new junior-senior high school is to be constructed.

He said this work which includes clearing, removing stumps and putting in fill dirt where the building will be located should begin in June.

This way it can be completed during the relatively dry weather expected this summer and be ready for construction as soon as a contractor is selected for the new school.

He also informed the board, a cost analysis, high school plans, a model and material samples should be gathered and ready for the board's inspection within three weeks.

Thompkins requested a work session with the board to review this work and samples.

'Side-stream' smoke is a killer House committee witnesses testify

"Side-stream" smoke from the end of somebody else's cigarette can kill innocent victims, according to testimony presented at the House public health subcommittee hearing Wednesday.

Nonsmokers have a right to clean indoor air, the expert witnesses in favor of House Bill 267 contended. Side-stream smoke has caused 5,000 cases of lung cancer, according to one witness' estimate.

Dr. Guy Campbell, pulmonary specialist, added that smoke-filled air may precipitate asthma attacks. He said children in homes of smoking parents have more respiratory infections and pneumonia.

An overwhelming majority of registered voters in Mississippi favor limits on smoking in public places, according to a 1987 statewide telephone survey conducted by the Mississippi State Department of Health and presented by Dr. Ed Thompson, state epidemiologist.

Fewer than one in four Mississippians are smokers, the survey showed, compared to one in three nationwide. Of all those surveyed, 85.3 percent of Mississippians favor smoking restriction in public places, either total ban (23.1 percent) or regulation (62.2 percent). Fewer than nine percent disapproved of regulation, while five percent had no opinion.

Most of those surveyed (87.8 percent) are registered voters. Their average age was 40.1 years.

Mississippi State Department of Health surveys found that ex-smokers tend to be more tolerant of second-hand smoke than do non-smokers. Some 18.8 percent of those surveyed had quit smoking, while 57.7 percent have never smoked.

"We're proud that more than three of every four Mississippians don't smoke," Thompson said. "But in this state, people still breathe other people's smoke. Mississippi is one of the few states that has no legislation regulating smoking in public places."

Thompson said that smoking is the largest single preventable cause of premature death and disability in this country.

Cigarette smoking causes nearly one-half of all deaths, he said, and is the direct cause of one-third of heart disease deaths.

Ninety percent of deaths from emphysema and bronchitis are due to smoking, according to Thompson.

He said smoking is responsible for most lung cancer deaths (85 percent). Cigarettes are implicated in cancers of the mouth, voice box, esophagus, bladder, kidney, and pancreas, he added.

Nonsmokers' risk of tobacco-related illness is 14 to 34 percent higher when they live or work in a smoke-filled environment, according to Dr. Clinton Smith, director of Medicaid, Office of the Governor.

He also noted that 10 times as many people die from smoking as die in motor vehicle accidents.

Some witnesses insisted they aren't trying to force smokers to quit, only to assure smoke-free air for those who don't smoke.

Other witnesses—Linda Brewer, director of the cardiac rehabilitation unit at Mississippi Baptist Medical Center and Dr. Johnnie Longest, director of student health at the Mississippi State University—said they don't want anyone to smoke because of the smoke damage they see in their patients.

Witness Fred Unger testified that he had a heart attack, though he hadn't smoked in 30 years. He said he had worked for a state agency where he stayed in smoke-filled rooms.

Chief executives regulate smoking in some work places: The state health officer, Dr. Alton B. Cobb, has banned smoking in facilities of the Mississippi State Department of Health. Governor Ray Mabus doesn't allow smoking in his offices.

Bill Shackleford of Blue Cross said that his firm has set aside a nonsmoking area in dining facilities and prohibits smoking in meetings and in restricted space.

"Mississippi Clean Indoor Air Act" would limit smoking in public places to designated areas only. The bill would not prohibit smoking but would require designation of nonsmoking areas if smoking is allowed.

The bill would not affect work places (unless frequented by the general public) or private social functions.

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) says he is pleased a Senate panel has approved a "taxpayer bill of rights" to curb IRS abuse.

"This bill is a positive step toward insuring that the basic rights of American taxpayers are protected," Cochran commented following the Senate Finance Committee action.

The committee approved legislation requiring the Internal Revenue Service to waive any penalties resulting from erroneous written advice from the IRS.

Other key provisions of the Finance Committee bill include:

► Increasing from 10 days to 30 days the time the IRS gives in advance written notice before seizing a taxpayer's property.

► Prohibiting the agency from evaluating its employees on the basis of how much taxes they collect.

► Allowing taxpayers to sue the IRS and recover legal costs and least $100 a day for each day the agency fails to remove a wrongful claim from a taxpayer's property.

► Permitting taxpayers who prevail against the IRS in a tax case to recover legal fees unless the agency can prove that it has substantial reason and justification for its position.

Senator Cochran was an original co-sponsor of the Taxpayer Bill of Rights, S. 1774, when it was introduced last year in the first session of the 100th Congress.

"While the committee version does not include all the provisions in our original bill," Cochran continued, "it does take progressive action to curb some of the chances for abusive use of the power by the IRS."

Cochran concluded by saying, "I hope the Senate and House will act favorably this year on this much-needed legislation. The taxpayers of this nation deserve fair treatment."

University Medical Center installs scanner

JACKSON—Neurosurgeons at the University of Mississippi Medical Center are using a new diagnostic tool to find abnormalities inside the skull without using dyes or injections.

The new transcranial, three dimensional doppler scanner, or Trans-Scan, is one of only seven in the United States. It's used at the University Medical Pavilion along patients.

This means, according to neurosurgery department chairman Dr. Robert Smith, that patients save time and money and eliminate discomfort.

"The kinds of things we can see with the Trans-Scan were heretofore only discernible with angiograms," Smith said. An angiogram is an x-ray procedure which requires an injection of dye into the blood vessels. It may require an overnight or a two-day hospital stay. The cost of an angiogram is $700-$800 (in addition to hospital costs) compared to the $200 cost of the Trans-Scan without any hospital costs.

The Trans-Scan combines doppler imaging with advanced computer graphics. It measures the speed at which blood flows through the vessels and the direction of the blood flow.

All the information is visible on the computer screen in color variations which represent different values. Findings are immediately plotted to indicate their precise location inside the skull.

The new tool will eliminate some but not all of the need for angiograms, Smith said.

In some cases, defects show up so precisely on the Trans-Scan that no further tests are necessary.

"When we're following patients who've already been found to have a problem—an aneurysm, a vessel malformation, or partial closing of a vessel due to hardening of the arteries—the scanner just makes it so much easier on the patient. And we can actually tell more about the problem," Smith said.

Salute to Mississippi Business and Industry

Business and industry are an important part of the fabric of Mississippi. They provide jobs, enhance the tax base of the state and its communities and they contribute in many ways to our civic life. Each year, during the month of April, Mississippi recognizes and applauds the contribution of its existing business and industry to the economy. Once again, the Governor has officially designated the month of April as Salute to Business and Industry Month.

For the first time, the Mississippi Department of Economic Development will sponsor a consumer and trade show, April 22-24 at the Mississippi Trade Mart in Jackson. The all-Mississippi business and industry show will feature showcasing and/or selling products manufactured by state industry and products sold by state business.

To celebrate in Hancock County, the second annual Salute to Business and Industry breakfast has been set for Friday, April 29, at 7:30 a.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club. The event is sponsored by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, in cooperation with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Further information on the event is available by calling the Chamber office at 467-9048.

National Volunteer Week

National Volunteer Week has been set for April 18-22, and balloons will be launched in honor of the Hancock County RSVP members on Wednesday, April 20 at 1 p.m. A party will follow this event in the Valena C. Jones Gymnasium, with entertainment and refreshments from 1-3 p.m.

The Chamber certainly appreciates its volunteers—Mel, Marion, Rosary, Betty and Dot—and we know we could not get along without them.

Coming-Events Calendar

The 41st Annual Spring Pilgrimage continues in Bay St. Louis and Waveland—April 7; and Diamondhead—April 8.

The Mississippi Gulf coast council of Garden Clubs requests that all businesses spruce up before the visitors come to town. Brochures outlining the various homes are available at the Chamber office.

Cajun Nite Concert—The 'Laissez Faire' Cajun band will be live in concert Saturday, April 9, at 6:30 p.m. at City Hall Park in Bay St. Louis. This event is sponsored by the Bay St.

9:30 a.m. at NSTL. All are welcome, and are asked to bring a brown bag lunch. The U.S. Navy Show Band will entertain at lunch. Persons interested in sponsoring an athlete for $15, contact Wally Alston at 684-3387.

President Rick Eagan welcomes the following new members to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce: Edward L. Fernandez, individual, 255-7303; A.L. Williams, Lee Delcuze, 467-1004; Bertin C. Chevis, M.D., 467-3805; Sheildsboro Diet Center, Ann Latham, 467-5730; Mijo's Florist & Gifts, Joanne Colson, 467-3288; Mantech Services Corp., Mike Little & Louis Ray, 467-3154.

Louis Downtown Merchants Association, Bay Technical Associates and McMahon Coastlife Realty.

Sand Beach Discussion—The Commander of the Mobile District Corps of Engineers will appear before the Sand Beach Committee and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to explain the Corps' position in the sand beach matter. The meeting is set for Friday, April 15 at 10 a.m. in the Hancock County courthouse for those interested.

Navy/NSTL Special Olympics—The opening ceremonies for the Navy/NSTL Special Olympics has been set for Saturday, April 16 at

Lott-Dowdy debate to highlight MEC annual meeting Friday

All eyes are on Mississippi as two veteran Congressmen open campaigns for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by the retiring Senator John C. Stennis.

That campaign for the open Senate seat will be the focal point of the Friday, April 8, annual Membership Meeting of the Mississippi Economic Council in Jackson.

The outcome of the race between Democrat Congressman Wayne Dowdy and Republican Congressman Trent Lott could have a significant impact on the state and the nation, explained Council Chairman Kenneth Milam of Jackson.

"Because this race is so important, the Council has scheduled a debate between the two candidates as the featured event at its Annual Membership Meeting on April 8," said Milam.

The meeting is scheduled for the Trade Mart in Jackson, with the Dowdy-Lott debate set for a 12:30 p.m. luncheon. Milam said an overflow crowd is expected for this meeting, the state's largest annual gathering of business and professional leaders.

Dowdy, of McComb, and Lott, of Pascagoula, are squared off in a race to determine the replacement for U.S. Senator John Stennis, who has held the seat for 40 years.

Milam, a Jackson lawyer, also noted that "this time of transition for Mississippi means that the decisions made now will determine our future for years to come. That is why when Mississippi sends a new Senator to Washington, the citizens need to send the best qualified man for the job. The Great Senate Debate will be an excellent way for voters to determine just who that man is."

Other highlights of the meeting will be two morning sessions, one of which will be addressing the topic of education reform in Mississippi.

The state's new Commissioner for Higher Education, Dr. Ray Cleere, will be leading a group of distinguished panelists in a discussion on the future of education reform in Mississippi.

The late morning session will be an appraisal of the first 90 days of the Mabus administration and the progress of the new Legislature. The discussion will be led by Rep. Cecil Simmons, Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives, who was instrumental in bringing about changes in the House rules a year ago.

The five councils that comprise MEC will meet following the luncheon session.

Like many of us, I'm sure, I spent the greater part of the day Monday out in the yard and what's left of my garden after last week's torrential rains and winds—and what a joy it was to be out in the sunshine digging in the earth!

Of course, I found myself quite mud-smeared in the process, but that didn't seem to matter at all, as I set about propping up newly planted and quite droopy seedlings or small plants, and setting out some others, and so on—and Heaven only knows where all those seeds I had planted just before the rains came have gone—they'll probably crop up in odd places on the lawn one of these days.

I was so busy and enjoying the fresh air and sunshine so much that I completely lost track of time, not to mention the fact that I had asked a few friends over for supper! It wasn't until I heard a car turn into the long driveway, and turned around, that I remembered—and there they were!

Fortunately, my guests were of the sort who are slow sippers and munchers and conversationalists before dinner or supper, so I had plenty of time for a swift raid on the fridge. Since I'm known as somewhat of a "rabbit" to some of my friends, due to my addiction to salads and fresh vegetables, a hastily tossed salad was no problem.

There was a round steak in the fridge, but far too small for all of us, and far too little time to cook it till tender. There was a bowl of leftover chicken breasts in a delicious dark wine sauce—but a couple of my supper guests don't care for chicken, and they knew that I very well knew it.

So, I put a pot of rice on—when in dire need, cook up some rice, and then find something to put with or over it—and so on, as any resourceful cook knows.

And out came smoked sausage, not as much as I would have liked to have on hand, but easily "stretched" with the rice, for:

RICE AND SAUSAGE SKILLET SUPPER

1 1/2 to 2 lbs. smoked sausage, large or small links, as you wish
2 to 4 cups cooked rice (depending upon how far you need to "stretch" the amount of sausage)

2 thin-sliced onions
1/4 cup chopped bell (green) pepper (optional)
1/2 cup stock or beef bouillon
1 can cream of tomato soup (undiluted)

Pepper, salt, hot pepper sauce to taste

Brown the sausage links (I prefer the hot smoked sausage) and drain on paper towels. Pour off the excess fat. Spread a layer of cooked rice in your trusty iron (or other) skillet and top with the sausage, then top that with the sliced onions. Sprinkle the chopped bell pepper over all, along with the seasonings.

Blend the stock into the can of soup, and pour over the whole business. Cover and simmer over low heat for 15 or 20 minutes. (Six servings)

You may prefer to use cream of mushroom soup instead of tomato. I often like to substitute tomato or V-8 juice, but we'd used up the supply on hand in the Bloody Marys!

I was truly "caught short" that afternoon—for I usually keep cooked rice on hand in the refrigerator and freezer, ready and waiting for impromptu pairing with sausage or seafood or ham or whatever, as rice is easily reheated, in a colander over boiling water, without losing its texture—just make sure that you drain it well. Or, if you prefer, just saute the leftover rice in a little butter, perhaps along with chopped green onions and celery.

Beginning Seamstresses

Several local ladies are learning how to sew by attending a six-week clothing construction series held in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Margie Welsh, Jordan River Estates, Charlotte Edwards, Shoreline Park, Rose Gasser, Kiln, Anabell Moran, Sherry Pahlmann and Lisa Carbo of Waveland are participating in the workshops.

The students have learned to take measurements, select the appropriate size pattern and select suitable fabric for their project and use of sewing equipment. Remainder of the classes will be spent learning time-saving construction techniques that can be used in a variety of garments.

Good Nutrition

March marked the sixteenth celebration of National Nutrition Month. The theme for 1988 was "Choose Good Nutrition—For Today and Tomorrow." The theme has a double meaning for our families in that choosing to eat a nutritionally healthy diet now has a positive impact on our health and well-being today and in the future.

Begin placing emphasis on beautiful eating in your family meals. But do so gradually. Remember, changing the way we eat takes time, and changes in our gradually are more likely to become part of our lifestyle.

The following are suggestions for gradual changes that can be included in your family meals:

► Start the day with a glass of juice and a muffin instead of cereal.

► Serve fresh fruit for dessert several times during the week instead of rich high-calorie desserts.

► Try a new herb or spice in place of table salt, sugar or added fat.

► Serve your family a light meal for food during the week.

► Serve a wide variety of fruits and vegetables each week.

► Serve meats baked, broiled or grilled more often than fried.

► Have fresh fruits and vegetables on cheese and crackers available for after-school snacks.

► Serve fruit juices, milk or water more often than soft drinks.

► Select low-fat dairy products.

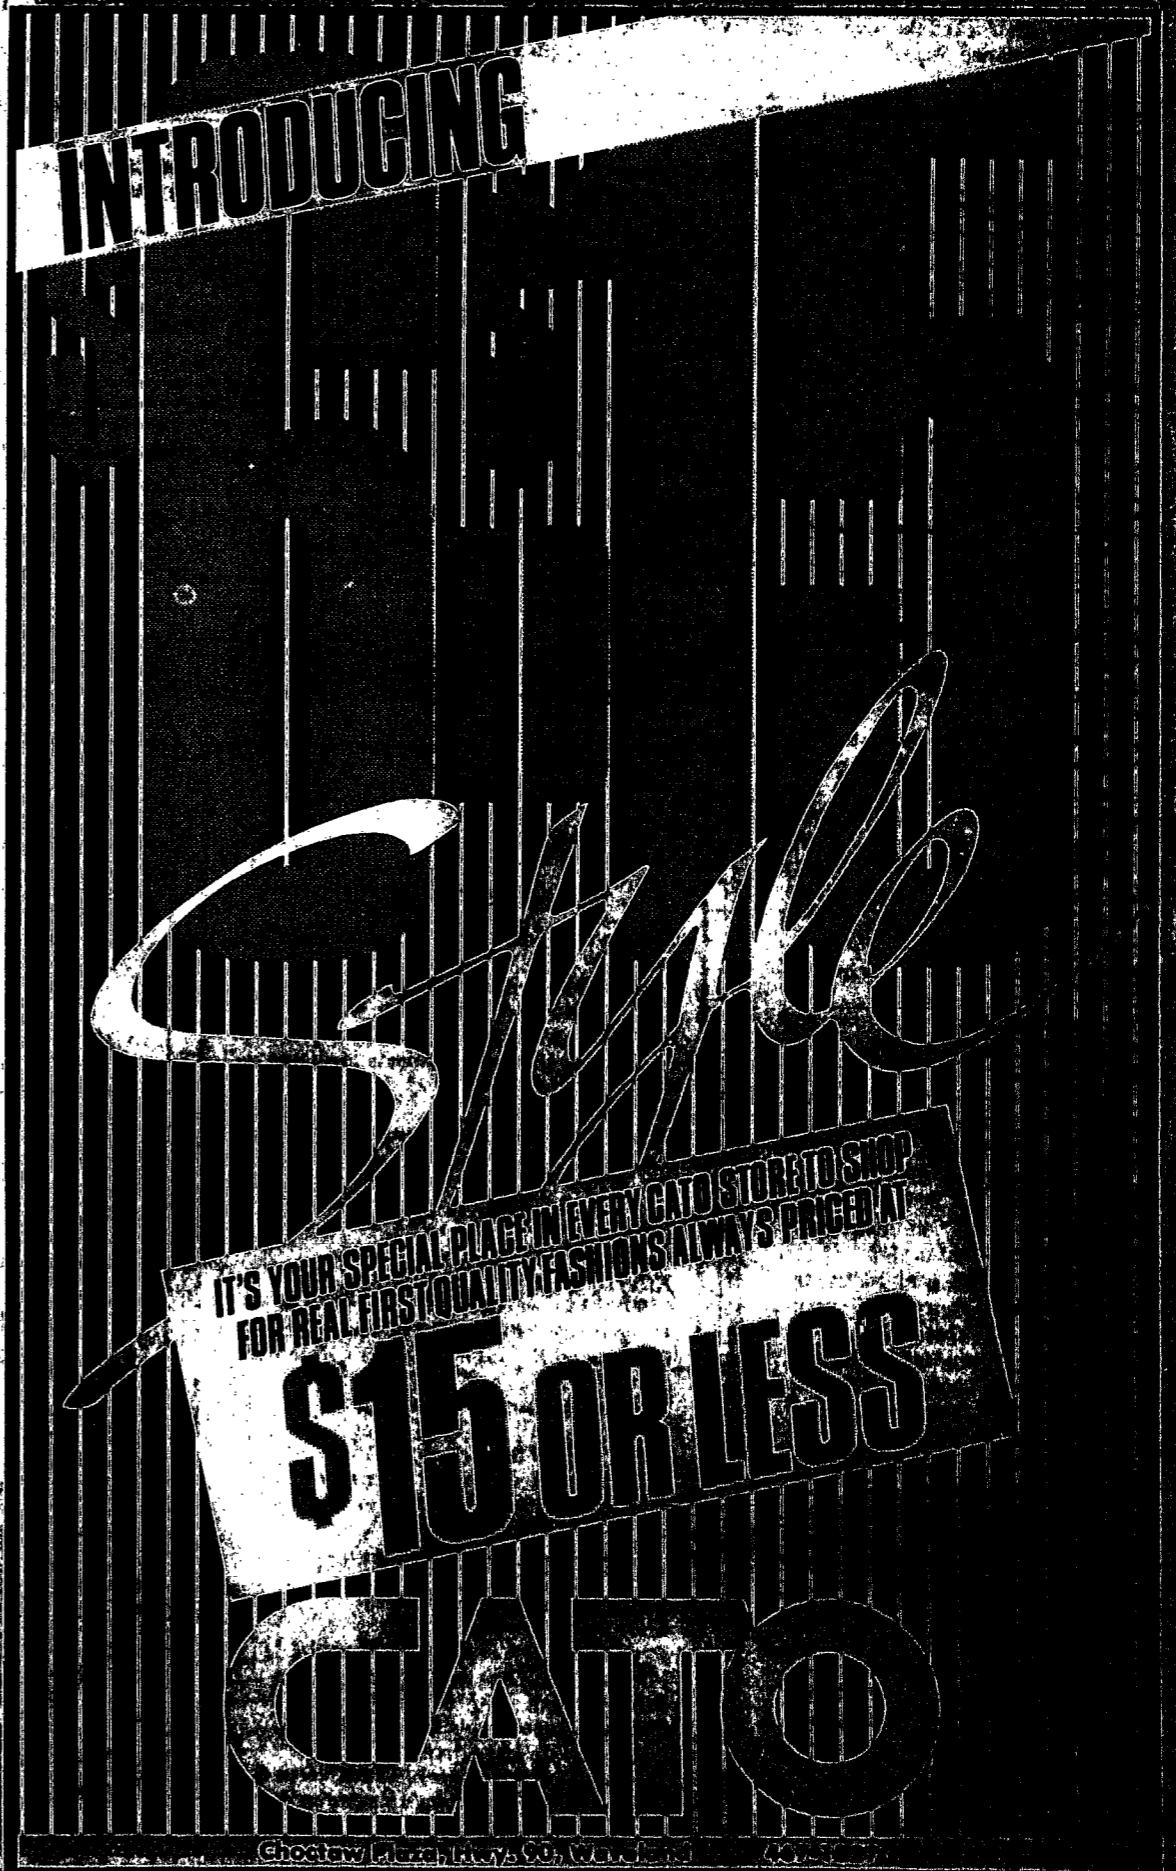

► Include more whole-grain products, such as whole wheat bread, cereals and whole wheat pasta in your family meals.

DETOURS to Buccaneer State Park in Waveland are being used during replacement of a damaged box culvert at Sand Bayou. In response to public inquiries, two Waveland Police Department officers, Mike Prendergast and Brett Ladner, have provided this map of the detours. Copies of the map are available at Waveland Police Department on US 90.

DEMOLITION of a damaged box culvert over Beach Road at Sand Bayou next to a Buccaneer State Park parking bay has blocked the road temporarily. Hancock County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson, inspecting the project, said the new box culvert will have to be constructed from concrete poured in place. Traffic for the park is currently being detoured. (Staff photo by Dena Bismette.)

Power company reports growth

A drop in rates, operating expenses and revenues made 1987 a good year for Mississippi Power Company's customers, according to the utility's recently released annual report.

"A stable economy, a drop in fuel prices and in income taxes played a positive role in the company's financial health in 1987," President Alan R. Barton said.

"Because of these factors, our customers ended the year paying slightly less for electricity than they did at the beginning of 1987 and seven percent less than five years ago."

Operating expenses were lowered from $400.9 million in 1986 to $370.1 million in 1987.

Operating revenues in 1987 totaled $423.5 million, a 6.7 percent decrease over 1986's $454 million.

Net income after dividends on preferred stock in 1987 increased four percent to $35.2 million, compared to $33.8 million in 1986.

"Renegotiation of coal contracts helped reduce operating costs significantly," Barton said. "And since those costs are tied to electric rates, this will continue to save millions of dollars for our customers in the years to come."

The company's total electricity sales grew two percent from 8.54 billion kilowatt-hours in 1986 to 8.72 billion kilowatt-hours in 1987. Most of that was due to a 17 percent increase in the sale of electricity to other electric companies.

As part of its commitment to revitalizing downtown areas in southeast Mississippi, the utility initiated the Downtown Development Program in 1987. The program offers electricity credits to businesses opening or expanding offices in central business districts. So far, 11 businesses in seven cities have taken advantage of the program.

Crowell appointed to savings league committee

Ray L. Crowell, president of Southern Federal Bank for Savings, has recently been appointed to the 1988 Secondary Market Committee of the United States League of Savings Institutions. USLS Chairman Theo H. Pitt Jr. said, "As part of our continuing effort to improve our program we try to appoint people to committees who are knowledgeable and interested in the subject matter and who, we hope, will be able to contribute and participate."

Crowell, 40, has served as president of Southern Federal Bank for Savings since March, 1988 and has been an officer at the institution for 14 years. He was instrumental in transforming Southern Federal from a savings thrift into a full-service bank in 1986.

Prior to joining Southern Federal Bank for Savings, Crowell was vice president of Palomar Mortgage Company in San Diego, California. He also worked for First Fidelity Mortgage Company in Houston, Texas where he supervised processing and originating of loans.

Crowell is a U.S. Army Veteran with a background in computer programming and systems analysis. He earned a Masters in Business Administration in 1970 from Northeast Louisiana University in Monroe, Louisiana. He also completed his undergraduate studies at Northeast Louisiana University, majoring in business administration.

Crowell is married and lives in Gulfport.

Civic activities include membership in the Mississippi Gulf Coast Homebuilders Association (past director); Board of Directors, Westminster Academy (present treasurer); Board of Elders, Westminster Presbyterian Church; and Mississippi Housing Finance Corporation, Jackson, Mississippi (5th Congressional District appointee).

"I'm pleased to be asked to serve on this important committee of the USLS," Crowell stated. "This is an honor for our bank and our community."

REDUCTION BENEFITS

Now that the acreage reduction sign-up period is underway, most producers are studying the 1988 commodity programs and weighing program benefits in relation to their farm operations, according to Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS Office.

Producers have until April 15, 1988, to apply for the feed grain, wheat, cotton and rice acreage reduction programs.

The corn, sorghum and barley program contains a 20 percent acreage reduction requirement and an optional 10 percent paid land diversion. Other acreage reduction requirements are 50 percent of oats, 27.5 percent for wheat, 12.5 percent for upland cotton, 10 percent for extra long staple (ELS) cotton, and 25 percent for rice.

Farmers who meet these and other program requirements will be eligible for target price protection and price support loans on this year's feed grains, wheat, cotton and rice," Gennin said.

Target prices act as insurance to keep producers in business if prices stay below acceptable levels. He said farmers need money to operate and if they get a price support loan it will give them time to wait for a better market.

The 1988 target prices are $4.23 per bushel for wheat, $2.93 for corn, $2.78 for sorghum, $2.51 for barley, $1.55 for oats, $0.759 per pound for upland cotton, $0.957 per pound for ELS cotton, and $1.15 per hundredweight for rice.

Loan rates per bushel are $2.21 for wheat, $1.77 for corn, $1.68 for sorghum, $1.44 for barley, $0.90 for oats, $1.50 for rye, $5.180 per pound for upland cotton, $8.892 per pound for ELS cotton, and $6.63 per hundredweight for rice.

"Only producers who participate in the 1988 commodity programs will be eligible for benefits on this year's crops," the ASCS official said.

CERTIFY CROPS

When farmers sign up for the 1988 acreage reduction programs, they may also report their fall-seeded crops.

ASCS is currently accepting applications for the feed grain, wheat, cotton and rice program. Signup ends April 15.

To avoid having to make a separate visit to the county office to certify, Gennin said, farmers may want to report the acres and intended uses of their wheat, oats, barley, rye and other fall-seeded crops when they apply for 1988 programs.

He said small grains which are not reported by May 1, 1988 will be ineligible for program benefits.

Farm program participants are required to report their actual acres planted for harvest to be eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other benefits. "Producers who do not enroll in the 1988 programs could also benefit by reporting their planted acreage because the report will be used for crop history purposes," the ASCS official said.

Acres reports are used to determine compliance with farm programs and provide documentation for future programs. ASCS randomly checks farms to verify that the reports are accurate.

Farmers who have questions about certifying their fall-seeded crops or about the 1988 acreage reduction programs are encouraged to contact the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS Office for more information.

Councils to set annual allocations for king and Spanish mackerel

TAMPA, Fla.—The Gulf and South Atlantic Fishery Management Councils will meet jointly in New Orleans to consider stock assessment information and set commercial and recreational allocations and bag limits for the next fishing year which begins July 1 for the Gulf.

The meeting will be held April 25-28 at the Crowne Plaza Holiday Inn, 333 Poydras, New Orleans.

The joint session in which the allocations will be set will be on Wednesday, April 27 beginning at 8:30 a.m.

A period for public testimony on this issue is scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. Other issues to be discussed jointly by the two Councils include future amendments to the mackerel rules, a level of harvest of all fish stocks at which further fishing effort will be prohibited, modification of procedures for setting spiny lobster rules and habitat issues.

On Thursday, the Gulf and South Atlantic Councils will meet in separate sessions. The Gulf Council will hear reports on the status of Gulf snapper and grouper stocks and EPA's Gulf Habitat Initiative.

The South Atlantic Council will hear reports on East Coast management of blue fish, snapper, and grouper, and on habitat issues.

The two Councils' committees will meet jointly Monday and Tuesday to develop recommendations for consideration by the Councils. A copy of the agenda may be obtained by calling (813) 228-2815.

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council is one of eight regional Fishery Management Councils which were established by the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976. The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council prepares fishery management plans which are designed to manage fishery resources in the 200-mile limit in the Gulf of Mexico.

For years, it was believed that pre-pubescent should not lift weights because they lacked hormones which increase muscle strength," Servedio said. "But, recent research has shown proper weight training exercises can effectively increase strength."

In addition to Servedio, Drs. Newton Wilkes and Walter Thompson will serve as workshop co-directors. Wilkes is an assistant professor of coaching and sports administration at USM. Thompson is an associate professor of physical education and director of USM's Laboratory of Applied Physiology.

Workshop fees are $5 for individuals and $10 for families. For more information, contact Kathy Murphy, director of USM's Physical Fitness Institute, at Southern Station Box 10024, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39406-10024, or call (601) 266-5416.

HATTIESBURG—The Physical Fitness Institute at the University of Southern Mississippi will hold a one-day "Youth Sports Conditioning Workshop" specifically designed for young athletes, their parents and coaches.

The Apr. 16 workshop (for youngsters ages 9-14) will be held from 9 a.m. to noon in USM's Reed Green Coliseum, and will include instruction and information in methods of strength conditioning for all sports activities—including individual and team sports.

"The most important factors in proper training for children are training, education and supervision," said Dr. Frank Servedio, assistant professor of exercise physiology at USM and director of the conditioning workshop.

According to Servedio, the USM workshop will be divided into three major components, including: a health-related fitness test, given to determine individual fitness levels; a lecture/demonstration describing training principles for both endurance and strength, and how they relate to children; and a skills evaluation session for baseball players.

USM signees honored

HATTIESBURG—If post season accolades are any indication, look for the University of Southern Mississippi's women's basketball signees to make an immediate and lasting impact on coach Kay James' program.

The Lady Eagles signed four players during the early signing period last fall, and all four have received numerous post season honors.

Alexis Hall, a 5-7 guard from Harrison Central's 40-0 state 5-A champs, led her team to a number seven ranking in the USA Today Super 25 poll and was voted the player-of-the-year in Mississippi by the Clarion Ledger-Jackson Daily News; and 5-7 guard Jeanice Slater of Hartselle, Ala., was voted player-of-the-year by the Birmingham News and was the GatorAid Player-of-the-year in Alabama.

Slater averaged 20.0 and 6.0 assists to become the first prep player ever in Alabama to be named "Miss Basketball". She led her team to a second place finish in the state class 5-A championships with a 28-4 record. Her team lost to Pell City High School, a team coached by her father Larry who was named coach-of-the-year in Alabama.

She also was a pre-season Street And Smith all-America pick.

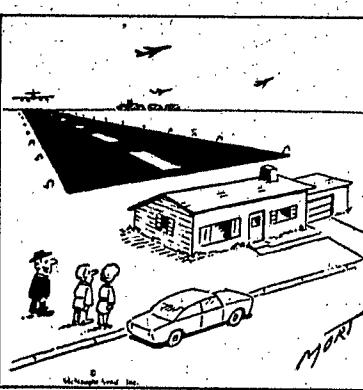

Sanders, a 5-11 forward from Kosciusko, Miss., was all-district, all-south state and all-state while leading her club to a 25-8 season and into the semi-finals of the over-all state 3-A tournament. She averaged 21.8 points and 11.0 rebounds.

Nash, a 5-11 forward from Cartage, Miss., averaged 18.4 points and 10.4 rebounds as her team finished with a 22-10 record before losing to Kosciusko at the division level. Both Nash and Sanders will play for the North squad in the summer all-star game.

All four of the new Golden Eagles say they're excited about their futures at USM. "I really liked the atmosphere there (at USM)," said Slater. "It very much reminded me of my home town." She and the other players also listed the Lady Eagle coaching staff as a major reason for their decisions.

Tips for buying a fish locator/depth finder

One of the most productive tools available to the modern bass sportsperson is the depth finder or fish locator. When used in conjunction with a lake map, the mastery of these two tools can prove to be a real boon to your bass harvesting success.

Every pro I've talked to on this subject agrees: Buy a brand and model that is best for your application or style of fishing. Don't buy a model with a lot of buzzers and bells if you don't need them.

"The main thing to consider is your application for the unit," stresses Ken Cook, Evinrude Pro Staff member. "Buy a unit that will do what you need it to do and get your money's worth. The bottom line is getting something you can use that provides the benefits you need. It's essential for someone who's going to buy a depth finder to learn about each model he's interested in, find out how they work, and what they will actually do for you."

Randy Dearman, Johnson Out-

board pro Staff member, gives some insights about flashers:

"Flashers basically all do the same thing. Some of them have different features or added features. They send a signal to the bottom and back up to the transducer and it tells you the depth. The scale is an important feature to look at, because your choice depends on what type of water you're fishing in. I like one with a shallow scale, say a 20-foot scale instead of a 60-foot scale because when your light moves it will move farther over a one-foot area on the 20-foot scale than it does on a larger scale."

"I think the OMC Tracker 2000XR is a unit that fits a lot of fishermen's needs very well because it does most of the things that the average guy needs," said Cook. "It tells him how deep the water is, tells the location of the bass between him and the bottom (within reason), and that's about all a fisherman needs most of the time. That covers 90 percent of your applications. For the money, the OMC Tracker is an appropriate unit for a lot of different fishermen in a lot of different situations. And it certainly works well to me in most of my applications."

Most professional and amateur bass tournaments require all the transducers wear an approved personal flotation device whenever the outboard is running. It's a good idea to wear a PFD whenever you're on the water, and now Johnson and Evinrude dealers have made that a little easier with the new PFD designs.

Editor's note: The OMC Tracker 2000XR is a unit that fits a lot of fishermen's needs very well because it does most of the things that the average guy needs. It tells him how deep the water is, tells the location of the bass between him and the bottom (within reason), and that's about all a fisherman needs most of the time. Millsaps slates sports banquet, awards

JACKSON—The Millsaps College Sports Banquet and Hall of Fame presentations will be held at 6 p.m. Friday, Apr. 22 in the Boyd Campbell Student Center on the Millsaps College campus.

At this ceremony, the 1987-88 inter-collegiate sports award winners and lettermen from all sports will be honored as well as the Sports Hall of Fame inductees.

Hall of Fame inductees include Aubrey "Sonny" Aldy, Bill Beckman, Bobby Spring, and Walter Permenter. Aubrey Aldy graduated from Millsaps in 1976 after lettering four years in football as a split end and a defensive back. He still holds many school records in pass receiving, and he played on the 1975 NCAA play-off team. He presently represents Colgate-Palmolive in the Dallas/Fort Worth area.

Bill Beckman was born in Greenville and entered Millsaps in 1968. He was a center on the basketball team and a pitcher/outfielder on the baseball team, earning eight letters in these two sports. Dr. Beckman lives in Jackson where he practices medicine.

Bobby Spring was born in McComb and entered Millsaps in 1967. He was the starting defensive tackle on the football team for four years, during which time the team compiled a record of 28 wins and 8 losses. Mr. Spring graduated from Millsaps in 1971 and is now living in Jackson where he is employed by Trustmark National Bank as Senior Vice-President and Personnel Director.

Walter Permenter was born in Stone County and entered Millsaps in 1928. He was quarterback on the football team, forward in basketball and infielder on the baseball team, earning ten letters in these sports.

He graduated from Millsaps in 1932 and is now living in Gulfport.

Other awards and trophies will also be presented. The Distinguished Athletic Service Award is presented annually to a long time supporter of Millsaps sports teams and the college.

Dr. Sam Knox is the recipient of this award for 1988. He is a long time supporter of Millsaps athletics and has been a member of the faculty since 1949. The Water Valley native is chairman of the Millsaps math department and has been the official team photographer of Millsaps for many years.

Trophies for most valuable players, best offensive and defensive players, academic awards and others will also be awarded to Millsaps athletes in all sports. Banquet tickets may be purchased at the door for $8 per person.

ding to Director Frank Pernicaro. Registration is $5 per player or $10 for two or more players in one family.

"The program has really grown during the past two years. We had 185 participants in 1987 and 120 in 1986 and we are expecting approximately 225 to register for this summer's program," Pernicaro said.

All boys and girls are invited to come and register for the program, he added.

The minor league program for 7-8 year old youth is designed to teach each player the basic fundamentals of the games, Pernicaro said.

In this league, each coach pitches to his team while they are at bat, he said.

The Tee-Ball program for 5-6 year old youths is for beginners and helps the players become familiar with the game.

Practice for the program will begin April 30 and the season opens May 28. All practices and games will be at McDonald Field.

Games will be held on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday for the anticipated 14 teams and the season is expected to end July 22.

Spring dieting, like spring cleaning, is an annual ritual for those of us who must watch our weight. Extra pounds somehow add up over the winter months, and trying to take them off in the short period before warm weather arrives is often ineffective, as well as bad for your health. You may be able to take off five pounds or so, but until you change your winter eating habits and begin to exercise regularly that weight won't stay off for long.

Don't wait until the last minute to start dieting; now is the time to begin. Crash dieting or fasting before your first beach outing is not wise. Give yourself a good two months to lose the weight.

Next, begin a good exercise program and start building up gradually. Make your exercise routine as appealing as possible.

HOME OF MR. AND MRS. ROBERT W. BREEDEN JR., 978 S. Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis, noon to 3 p.m. Originally part of the Mary Parish Claim of 1813, this high land was the home of the O'Brien family from 1820 to 1910, when it was sold to St. Margaret's Daughters. After the various structures were destroyed in 1969 by Hurricane Camille, the Breeden family of New Orleans purchased it for their summer home. Designed by the owners and built by C. J. Heitzman in 1981, the frontage is divided into three lots, and each corner of the house has a large old live oak tree.

Pass, DeLisle schools mark 'say no' week

DeLisle Elementary School, Pass Christian Elementary School, and Pass Christian Middle School this week are celebrating "Just Say No" Week.

Special lessons have been developed to build a positive self image and teach students how to respond to peer pressure in grades Kindergarten through eighth.

The program has been designed to supplement the drug education curriculum currently available in school.

The goal of the program is to assist in the prevention or reduction of the use of drugs by our youths to provide drug and alcohol abuse prevention activities. The community has become involved in this effort.

The Pass Christian Rotary Club, in conjunction with some of the area merchants, have purchased Tee Shirts for the district's third and fourth grade students which read "Drug Busters."

The shirts will be worn Friday during the week's culminating activities. A balloon release, planned for Friday afternoon is part of these activities which are being sponsored by Dupont's DeLisle Plant.

At DeLisle, the students will enjoy a special visit by "Drugless Douglas," the 'smartosaurus' who serves as a mascot for Mississippi's Drug Education Program.

Thanks to the dedication and talent of Mrs. Sherrie Massey,

CEHS eighth graders targeted by survey

Coast Episcopal High School eighth grade students will be participating in a nationwide survey designed to measure how well groups of young Americans have mastered certain traditional learning areas.

Nationwide, approximately 2,000 schools and almost 130,000 students will participate in the National Assessment of Education Progress (NAEP) during the 1987-88 academic year.

NAEP is administered by the Center for the Assessment of Educational Progress, a nonprofit organization, located in Princeton, N.J.

Funded by the Center for Education Statistics, U.S. Department of Education, for 19 years NAEP has provided the public with objective, scientifically gathered data on specific knowledge, skills and attitudes of America's youth. Results of this year's study are scheduled for publication in the spring of 1989.

United States Secretary of Education, William Bennett, uses the NAEP survey as the "nation's report card" when discussing the progress in our nation's schools.

The eighth grade at Coast Episcopal will be tested in reading, science, U.S. history and civics.

Further information on the National Assessment of Educational Progress may be obtained through the NAEP Department of Public Information, Post Office Box 2923, Princeton, N.J. 08541.

part of the public television outreach project for 1988 called "Child Care" child care facilities, even if their parents could afford the cost.

Affordability—

► While there were 484 children under 5 years old living in poverty in Hancock County and;

► Over 15 percent of the county's families live below the poverty line in 1980.

► Only 34 children, just 7 percent of the children under 5 years in poverty, received child care assistance funded through the Title XX (Social Service Block Grant) child care assistance program.

Head Start figures were not considered here because their program is not a day care program for working mothers.

Data taken from: U.S. Department of Commerce, 1980 Census; Miss. State Board of Health; Miss. Department of Public Welfare.

America. The project is not designed to try to provide clear-cut solutions to the child care problem, but to act as a springboard for local communities, organizations and businesses to search for individual solutions to their child care needs."

Mississippi ETV provided the following fact sheet on child care in Hancock County:

The Problem:
There is not enough licensed day care in Hancock County to meet the needs of working parents and their children.

The Facts:
Supply—

► In 1980 there were 44 working mothers with children under six (6).

► It is estimated that there were 68 children under six (6) with working mothers in the county.

► In 1986 there were 224 licensed child care facilities in the county.

► This means that only 10 percent of the young mothers with working mothers could be placed in licensed care. American child care facilities are not available in Hancock County. The Young Child Mile Moore, Mississippi Attorney General, and several other local leaders, including Senator Seaman, Street, of Hancock County, will speak at the event April 18-19. Moore is serving as Mississippi's honorary chairman for a special public awareness campaign called "Who Cares for the Children?"

Stanislaus student named National Merit Finalist

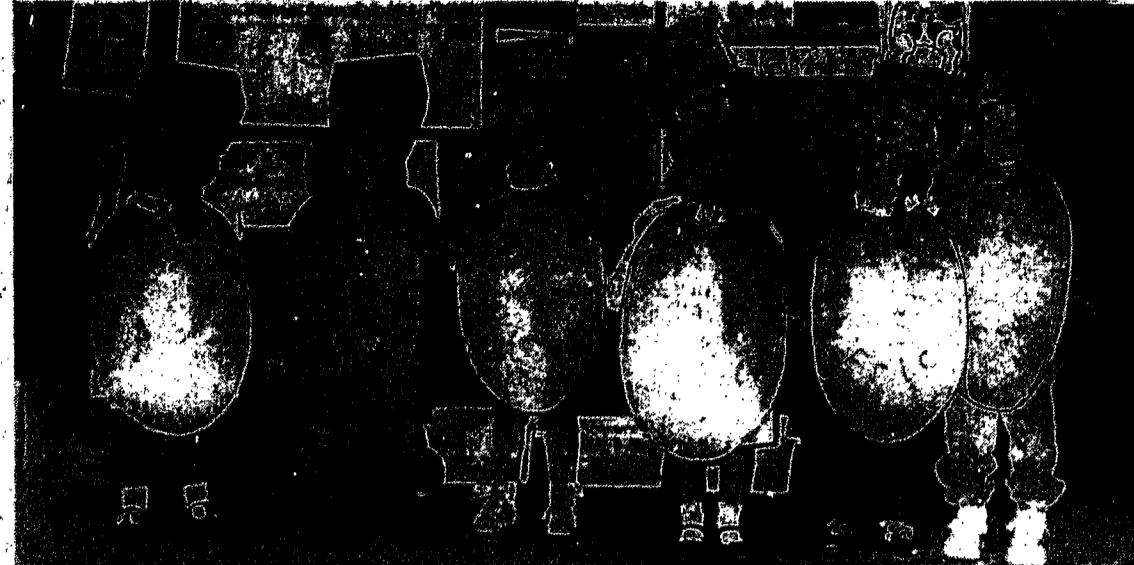

Brother Paul Montero, principal of St. Stanislaus High School, has announced that Bruce Barker has been named as a national merit finalist for the 1987-88 school session. Merit finalists are among the highest scorers in each state on the 1987 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and the National Merit Scholarship Test (PSAT/NMSQT) which was administered to over one million students throughout the United States. The finalists are distinguished as a select group who represent fewer than half of one percent of American high school seniors.

Barker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Slade Barker of Pass Christian, is presently in his fourth year at St. Stanislaus. He is an honor roll student and a member of the varsity prep quiz bowl team at St. Stanislaus. In addition to this he has been active as a member of the yearbook staff and the computer club.

He has participated in the school intramural program as well as the weightlifting club. Outside of school activity, he is a member of the Pass Christian Sailing Team and the Episcopal Youth Council. This coming year Barker is looking forward to studying business law at Georgetown University.

Coast Episcopal students picked for Presidential Classroom

Coast Episcopal High School has announced the selection of two students, John Roper Jr. and Malise Marchal, to attend the Presidential Classroom in Washington, D.C., in 1988.

Rusty Roper, son of Judge and Mrs. John Roper Sr. of Ocean Springs, is a junior and vice-president of the Coast Episcopal High School Student Council.

He is a member of the Society of Distinguished American High School Students, Mu Alpha Theta, the German Club, and the International Thespian Society.

He is a member of the Coast Episcopal High School Scholar's Bowl team.

Roper is also a member of the Coast Episcopal High School varsity basketball, track, soccer, tennis and softball teams.

Malise Marchal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marchal of Pass Christian, is a junior and treasurer of the Coast Episcopal High School Student Council. She is a member of the Society of Distinguished American High School Students and the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta, the French Club and the International Thespian Society.

Marchal is also a member of the annual staff and the Varsity and Scholar's Bowl teams.

Students attending the Presidential Classroom receive a first hand look at the federal government in action.

The Classroom immerses students in an intensive week of workshops and seminars designed to give participants a deeper understanding of how the U.S. Government works, the problems and opportunities of daily government operations, and the issues facing America today.

The students are exposed to elected and appointed leaders of government and their diverse viewpoints.

The Classroom is offered at varying times during the spring. Roper attended in February and Marchal will attend in June.

Waveland coed to participate in dance festival

Liz Stirling of Waveland will be among a group of 15 dancers from the University of Southern Mississippi who will travel to the Mid-Atlantic regional meeting of the American College Dance festival (ACDF) for four days of classes, workshops and performances.

"Going to the ACDF festival will be a learning experience for all of our students," said Janet Prieur, associate professor of dance at USM. "The national association has been instrumental in promoting dance in higher education and has emphasized dance as a performing art for more than 15 years."

As a part of a performance and evaluation phase of the Mar. 24-27 festival, Stirling was included in a troupe of six USM dancers who performed "Shifting Ground," a major work of internationally known dancer/choreographer Ze'eva Cohen.

Cohen visited the USM campus last January as a speaker in the USM Honors College University Forum lecture series and for a series of master classes with USM students. From those classes, she selected the six student dancers to perform her work during USM's annual Spring Dance Concert to be held on the USM campus April 21-23.

According to Prieur, the ACDF performance will be an excellent opportunity to "hone the dance and dancers" for the USM concert.

Last year, ACDF held four regional festivals with more than 1,150 students and dance faculty representing some 65 institutions nationwide.

State plan to educate handicapped under review

The State Department of Education has prepared a 1988-91 State
Plan for handicapped children.

This plan, which is the state's commitment to follow the federal regulations for implementing the education of All Handicapped Children's Act (P.L. 94-142), is available for review in the offices of local school district superintendents, heads of private schools having special education programs, presidents of voluntary organizations for handicapped children, heads of university departments of special education, chairmen of Screening Teams, and heads of state agencies serving handicapped children.

The plan may also be reviewed between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. each weekday in Suite 704 of the Walter Sillers Building until May 2.

Public comments on the plan are requested and will be received through May 2, 1988; written comments should be sent to Walter H.

Moore, Director, Bureau of Special Services, P.O. Box 771, Jackson, MS 39205.

Four public hearings are also scheduled to allow interested individuals to make comments on the Plan. The hearings will include one
Apr. 27, Long Beach, USM Gulf
Park, Lloyd Hall, Room 106, 10 a.m.

Comments will be reviewed and consideration will be given to whether changes need to be made in the Plan. Following this, the State Board of Education will be asked to approve the Plan during the May 1988 meeting and the Plan will be submitted to the Office of Special Education Programs, U.S. Department of Education, during the first week in June 1988.

Approval of this Plan will result in revenue of approximately $18 million to the State for the education of handicapped children.

The State Department of Education has also prepared a Fiscal Year 1989-90 Preschool Grant Application.

for 3- and 4-year-old handicapped children. This application is intended to follow the federal regulations for implementing Title IV of the Handicapped Children's Act. The application will be available through May 2, 1988.

This application will be for two years of the 1989-90 Preschool Grant Application.

Most of the funds available through this application will be used to expand preschool services to handicapped children.

Applications will be available through May 2, 1988.
